

You Just Try NR For That Indigestion

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver.

It must be plain to any sensible person who studies it that the stomach, like every other organ, has its own rhythm and that when in harmony, if digestive trouble occurs, it can be avoided or overcome.

This fact also explains why Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) suffer more or less from indigestion, biliousness and constipation.

If you are one of the many unfortunate persons who cannot eat without suffering afterward, if you are compelled to take strong medicine, have heart trouble, variable appetite, are nervous, losing energy and feel your health slipping away, take this advice and get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) right away and start taking it.

Give it a trial for a week or two.

OUR RICHEST MAN.

Mr. Rockefeller at eighty-two playing golf is an interesting figure. But the man who holds an umbrella over him when it rains, or when the sun's rays become too fervid, is a more instructive picture to the young or middle-aged man who has the courage to peer into his own future.

Mr. Rockefeller's umbrella man is a symbol of comfort in old age, of security from poverty, of the care and consideration and attendance all old people need to make smooth the path on the shady side of life, says the Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Every prudent man must desire an "umbrella man" to protect him from inclement weather when his vigor declines, and will work and save and deny himself to get such protection, as well as to secure it for his family. The trusty happiness comes to those whose industry and talent and thrift not only provide for their own needs, but also enable them to be of service to their children. If a census of the hopes of men could be taken, we doubt not that their dearest ones would be those which cluster around their love for their children.

Curtis E. Brassaw of New Hampshire, 22, walked into the Rutland police station Thursday and asked to be arrested and locked up until he could find work. He said he had been jobless for weeks and could find no way of earning any money. He was accommodated temporarily and was given lodgings and also food. The court will determine what disposition will be made of his case.

The trial calendar of the Vermont Supreme Court at Montpelier, for the February term is fairly long, with 59 cases down for hearing. Of these, seven are from Chittenden County court, and Washington county has five.

No cases are entered from Grand Isle county or Addison county. Three cases are entered from Bennington county, four from Rutland, four from Franklin, one from Lamoille, four from Orange, three from Essex, seven from Orleans county, seven from Caledonia county, eight from Windham, and six from Windsor county.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Nutter have brought suit in Rutland county court against the Rutland Railway Light & Power Co. to collect $4,500 damages on the ground of negligence. The husband wants compensation for personal injuries and the former for loss of his wife's services. The claim is made that Mrs. Nutter fell into a ditch which the company dug in front of the plaintiff's house to lay gas pipe.

The state of Delaware received its name from Thomas West, Lord de la Warr, governor of Virginia, who visited the bay in 1610.

APPEAL TO TEACHERS

To Join the National Educational Association

The National Educational Association is making a great effort to extend its service by getting into closer contact with all educational activities. An appeal for individual membership and/or affiliation of local associations is being made throughout the country. Each state has one director whose duty it is to carry forward its work, furthering the interest of both the state and national activities.

The following letter has just been issued to the educational leaders in the state by Caroline S. Woodruff, director from Vermont:

My Dear Co-workers: Our membership in the N. E. A. is now 197, an increase of 200 per cent since 1920. But the rate is still very low comparatively, there being only six states with less than 100 members.

Territory of Hawaii—453 members. Phillipine Islands—483 members. Vermont—only 197 members.

Were this indicative of our professional spirit or breadth of educational interest we might hang our heads. It is not, but it does show a lack of appreciation of the importance attaching to our affiliation with the great national association as well as with the state and local organization.

We who have been long time members know its value not only to those in executive and administrative positions but to every teacher. Somehow there comes with a professional pride that makes one feel that his work is bigger when he is a member of an association side by side with the great educational leaders in the country.

Much as we need closer contact with our daily associations, we need also the widening vision that comes from affiliation with the national body of educators.

The annual meeting this year will be held in Boston July 22. Membership taken now holds through that meeting. Will you not try, (1) to encourage members from your district, (2) to enlist the interest of all your teachers in planning now to attend that Boston meeting.

The president of the N. E. A., Miss Clara O. Williams of Tennessee, in order to encourage membership and attendance at this meeting, has offered two banners to be awarded them. Vermont with very little effort might win either or both of them for she has special advantages this year—(1) her nearness to Boston and (2) her small population.

The banners offered are:

1.—To the state having largest membership in the N. E. A. in proportion to its population. Now 197 out of approximately 500,000.

2.—To the state having largest membership in the State Teacher's Association in proportion to its population. Now less than 1500 out of 500,000.

Can't we win one of these banners?

Our local work is, of course, our abiding interest, but if we are growing professionally and leading our teachers to do so, we must broaden our educational interest enough at least to become members of the bigger organization.

Let's get to work now. Can you make suggestions to help in this work?

Enclosed are some registration blanks which may be filled and sent directly to Secretary J. W. Craftsman, 1201 16th Street N. W., Washington, D. C., or they may be mailed to me.

Please call for more blanks when necessary.

Yours for one of the N. E. A. banners in Boston next July.

Aren't you planning to go to the superintendents meeting in Chicago, February 27-March 3?
